Purcell

Purcell is coined "The Heart of Oklahoma" and "The Quarter Horse Capital of the World". This historic community boasts with old-country charm and originally from thriving railroad roots, the town still offers the Amtrak Heartland Flyer, routing from Fort Worth to Oklahoma City. Below we have provided a curated list of some of our favorite historical sites to visit in Purcell, as well as some lodging options and restaurants to stop at while you are traveling between museums, main street and other prominent Purcell locations. Enjoy!

Things to do:

Grand Canadian Theatre

The Grand Canadian Theater is an elegant venue with historical charm, offering a unique space for weddings, parties, and social events. The venue is easy to access from I-35 directly into downtown Purcell. Additionally, the friendly staff offers event packages and features trusted vendors for every budget. Treat yourself and your guests to a memorable event at The Grand Canadian Theater or stop by while exploring downtown Purcell to see a beautiful historical building that is still going strong!

Aunti Mae's Antiques

The 9,000 square ft establishment has been remodeled to reflect the history of the 100+ year old building. The original ceiling is still in place, and under the floors, a cellar with a tunnel was found. They suspect the tunnel was made during the prohibition era and the opening can be spotted in the store. Today, the space is filled with rustic and chic decor, oil and gas collectables, and many other reclaimed and repurposed items.

Butler's Antiques

What was once the historic Hotel Love in Purcell is known today as Butler's Antiques. Hotel Love was once a sixty-three-room hotel constructed in 1895 and stands today in very close resemblance to the original state. The current owners have spent years doing extensive restoration work to ensure the property looks authentic to its original condition. The environment of the store is warm and welcoming and the architectural detail is phenomenal. Each room is set up in a pleasing arrangement, and the items in the room are arranged either according to color, theme or vignette. The two-story antique store carries a full assortment of antiques and collectibles.

Places to Eat:

Happy Camper Café

A local favorite, this restaurant is best known for its made-from-scratch sides as well as their main dishes, which include the potato salad, pork, pastrami and turkey, all of which are smoked in house! They feature daily specials and offer seasonal favorites throughout the year. After your meal, don't forget try one of their yummy desserts.

All in Diner

Locals enjoy the delicious food, specifically the burger and fries. Who would have thought that such a simple dish could be done SO right? Next time you find yourself in Purcell, make sure to stop by and enjoy a delicious bite to eat as well as a friendly conversation with anyone of the friendly restaurant regulars

Places to Stay:
